Walking Tour April 14: Working With Local Government

(Woodland, CA) – On April 14, Yolo County is offering a unique look into local government with a two-hour walking tour of the County Administration Building, beginning at 9:00 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors Chambers, located at 625 Court Street, Room 206 in Woodland.

Dotty Pritchard-Huber, Deputy to Yolo County Supervisor Matt Rexroad, will host this walking tour through the Erwin W. Meier Administration Building for Yolo County residents and employees, stopping in various county departments to learn more about the government process from beginning to end. Participants will be introduced to the following county offices and programs: Assessor, Auditor-Controller/Treasurer-Tax Collector, County Administration, Elections and the Board of Supervisors. Presenters will include Yolo County Supervisor Matt Rexroad and County Administrator Patrick Blacklock, along with elected officials from many of the above mentioned offices.

“This walking tour is part of our on-going efforts to introduce our residents to county government and engage them in the process,” said Yolo County Board of Supervisor Chairwoman Helen M. Thomson. “This is especially timely during National County Government Month, held in April, which recognizes the 3,068 counties across the nation that provide a wide range of essential public services for 300 million Americans.”

For those interested in participating in this walking tour on April 14, contact Gary Engel at (530) 666-8044 or via e-mail: gary.engel@yolocounty.org.
