Yolo County clerk-recorder, Freddie Oakley, has announced that her office will no longer act as a Passport Agent for the United States Department of State.

“We will no longer provide information or process passports,” Oakley said. “The federal government only reimburses Yolo County for about half the cost of providing this service. As a result, the County loses about $25.00 for every passport processed. In this time of financial crisis for the County, the Board of Supervisors and I agree that we can not continue to underwrite the federal government’s program. We really regret that this action is necessary, because we have always enjoyed working with our customers on passport applications.”

The remaining Passport Agents in Yolo County are the Davis Post Office at 2020 5th Street in Davis, and the West Sacramento Post Office at 3773 Industrial Blvd., West Sacramento.
