Supervisor Don Saylor Appointed to Cities Counties School Partnership Board

(Woodland, CA) – Yolo County Supervisor Don Saylor was recently appointed to serve as a member of the Cities Counties School Partnership Board of Directors on behalf of the California State Association of Counties. Supervisor Saylor will serve on this board with representatives from other counties, cities and school boards throughout California.

“I am delighted to serve with colleagues from around the state to improve public service for Californians,” said Yolo County Supervisor Don Saylor

The Cities Counties School Partnership was created as a vehicle for the three partnering associations – the California State Association of Counties, the California School Boards Association, and the League of California Cities – to identify common issues, discuss mutual challenges and explore alternative strategies to improve the conditions of children, families and communities at the local level. The 2012 Chairman of the CCS Partnership is John Gioia, Contra Costa County Supervisor and Vice-President of the California State Association of Counties.

The California State Association of Counties represents county government before the California legislature, administrative agencies and the federal government with the long-term objective of significantly improving the fiscal health of all California counties so they can adequately meet the demand for vital public programs and services.

“The first meeting of this partnership that I will attend will focus on community schools, with particular emphasis on successful local government examples of intergovernmental collaboration,” said Saylor. “While representing counties, I am pleased to bring to the table my past experiences having served on the Davis Joint Unified School District Board and the Davis City Council.
