Contractor Can Now Get Building Permits Online (Residents Can Track the Process Online)

(Woodland, CA) – In an effort to improve service and streamline the permit process, the Yolo County Planning & Public Works Building Inspection Division has launched ePermits which allows contractors ability to apply for basic permits, pay fees, schedule inspections and view the inspection schedule online here: <https://etrakit.yolocounty.org/etrakit/>. Through this system, residents are also able to view the status of a permit, schedule inspections, view the inspection schedule to see their scheduled inspection time and retrieve inspection results.

“Linked directly to the county’s permit tracking and accounting system, ePermits will save time and money for our county building inspection staff and for contractors by streamlining permit transactions,” said Yolo County Planning & Public Works Director John Bencomo. “This system is also a benefit to residents who want to follow the progress of their construction project.”

Use of the ePermit system is only available for basic residential permits that do not require a plan review or site plan approval. This includes re-roofing, furnace replacement, air conditioning (new or replacement), water heater, tankless water heater (new or replacement), above ground propane tanks, window replacement and electrical service panels up to 325 amperes. Payment for ePermits can be made with VISA and MasterCard. Permits can be printed directly from the website.

For more information and to obtain a user registration application for the Yolo County’s permit tracking and accounting system, contact the Building Inspection Division, 530-666-8775, or visit www.yolocounty.org.

The ePermits can be found here: <https://etrakit.yolocounty.org/etrakit/>.
