West Sacramento Library Leading the Pack in ‘Read to the Rhythm’ summer program

(Woodland, CA) – The Arthur F. Turner Community Library, located at 1212 Merkley Avenue in West Sacramento, has enrolled 2,026 people in the Yolo County Library’s Summer Reading program since the start of the program on June 1.

Combining the tallies at all eight Yolo County Library’s branches, 4,493 have signed up for this year’s ‘Read to the Rhythm’ Summer Reading Program, with 45% of participants coming from Arthur F. Turner Community Library. Last year, the Arthur F. Turner Community Library enrolled 782, making this year’s 150% increase in participation a high achievement. The sharp increase in participation is due in part to staff’s use of social media, word of mouth and flier distribution to get the word out about special summer reading events and programs.

“The many and varied family-friendly events at the library really draw in the community,” says Yolo County Librarian, Patty Wong. “When we come together, we read together.”

There is still time to sign up for this year’s ‘Read to the Rhythm’ Summer Reading Program at any of the Yolo County Library’s eight branches through August 15.
