Garden Class Oct 7: Propagation techniques for growing your garden

(Woodland, CA) – Are you looking for cost-effective ways to expand your garden or share plants with friends? The Hanna & Herbert Bauer Memorial Community Garden, located in Woodland and sponsored by the Yolo County Health & Human Services Agency, will be host to a free gardening class on Wednesday, October 7, 5:15 to 6:30 p.m.

This class will introduce several approaches to plant propagation, such as air layering and seed starting. Topics will include demonstration of several types of propagation, discussion of how to determine the best propagation approach for your garden and what techniques work best with different plant types. No experience with propagation is required to attend.

The class is free to all and is taught by UC Master Gardener of Yolo County Jim Schulte. The class will take place outside in the community garden, so please dress for the outdoors and bring water. The garden is adjacent to the Yolo County Bauer Building, located at 137 N. Cottonwood Avenue in Woodland. Pre-registration is required by October 5. To register, contact Robin Rocksvold at (530) 666-8528 or robin.rocksvold@yolocounty.org.
