About Yolo County and the Library

Yolo County is one of California's original 27 counties and is home to over 200,000 people. Nearly 85% of the population lives in the County's four cities: Davis, West Sacramento, Winters and Woodland. Traditionally, farming and ranching activities have played an important role in making Yolo County one of the leading agricultural producers in the nation.

There are excellent leisure and cultural opportunities, such as the Woodland Opera House and the Mondavi Center, whitewater rafting along Cache Creek, bicycling on scenic country roads, and fishing and water-skiing along the Sacramento River. The County is also home to the University of California, Davis with its 5,300-acre campus and 36,000 student population.

The Yolo County Library serves seven communities and the rural areas of Yolo County, and provides public library services to all areas of the County except the City of Woodland. Branch libraries are located in Clarksburg, Davis, Esparto, West Sacramento, Knights Landing, Winters and Yolo. Library Administration and Technical Services and operations are located in Woodland.

Public library services include collection management, circulation, Internet access, reserves and interlibrary loans, virtual branch and database services, computer and software applications, meeting and study rooms, diverse programs for all ages, homework and research assistance, literacy programming, reference and information services and instruction, family and children resources, community information services, and Archives and Records Center services and preservation.

The Yolo County Library is committed to supporting a diverse and inclusive employee workforce reflective of the population we serve that are knowledgeable, encouraging and continually support communities in our region. We are committed to an environment where differences are valued and all staff are part of a productive, high performing team delivering quality services to our clients.

About the position

The Librarian I/II - Youth Services will be assigned to the Mary L. Stephens – Davis Branch Library and will work with a team of professionals, paraprofessionals, and community members to deliver quality services to children and teens in the City of Davis, West Yolo region. The position will be responsible for planning, developing, implementing, and evaluating system-wide, local, and County wide programs and outreach services to families and youth of all ages, with a focus on children 0-5 years old.

Services include managing a wide range of diverse family programming, Family Place, afterschool enrichment activities, building partnerships with other youth serving agencies, and supporting grant funded services through First 5, family resource centers and other community based organizations. Yolo County Library follows a youth development model of service and a collaborative culture of inclusion and community engagement. Experience working in a multilingual, multicultural environment is highly desired.

Applicants that are currently in the last semester of their Master of Library Science or Library Information Services degree program are welcome to apply. However, any offer of employment will be contingent upon proof of completion of the degree program.

In addition to the qualifications listed in the online application, the ideal candidate will be community oriented, enthusiastic about promoting the library to a broader audience, able to engage new technologies, adept at managing grants, capable of being the person in charge of a branch and genuinely enjoy serving a diverse population base. Fluency in languages other than English is highly desirable. All Library staff in this class are expected to provide direct service at any branch. Incumbents in this position are required to work regular evening and weekend hours.
