Gardening 101 Class March 15

(Woodland, CA) – Spring is around the corner and it's time to dust off your gardening tools and begin preparation for a spring and summer garden. To help you get started with some gardening basics, the Hanna & Herbert Bauer Memorial Community Garden is hosting a free Gardening 101 class on Wednesday, March 15, from 5:15 to 6:30 p.m.

This interactive class will be taught by David Linebarger, the garden manager, and will cover topics such as soil preparation, strategies for planting and timing for planting summer crops. There will be time to ask questions and no gardening experience is required to attend.

Pre-registration by March 13 is required for the class. To register, contact David Linebarger at (530) 666-8429 or david.linebarger@yolocounty.org. The garden is located at 137 N. Cottonwood Street in Woodland, behind the Yolo County Health & Human Services Agency Bauer Building. Please dress for cool weather and wear shoes that can get dirty.

This class is part of the Yolo County Health & Human Services Agency's commitment to providing education and resources that help residents eat fresh fruits and vegetables and live healthier lives. Classes are offered for free throughout the year at the Community Garden, and you can learn more about the garden activities and classes by visiting: www.yolocounty.org/garden.

In the event of steady rain, the class will be cancelled.
