Laura's Law - Laura's Law is a California state law that allows for court-ordered assisted outpatient treatment. To qualify for the program, the person must have a serious mental illness plus a recent history of psychiatric hospitalizations, jailings, or acts, threats or attempts of serious violent behavior towards [self] or others. The law was named after Laura Wilcox, a mental health worker who was killed by a man who had refused psychiatric treatment. The bill was introduced as Assembly Bill 1421 by Assemblywoman Helen Thomson, a Democrat from Davis, and passed in 2002.
