Father's Day Message from Yolo County Child Support Services

(Woodland, CA) – This Father's Day, the Yolo County Department of Child Support Services recognizes fathers who work hard to support the well-being and stability of their children. Being a father is a responsibility with tremendous rewards yet not without challenges.

Research shows that children with involved fathers thrive and do better in school and in relationships. Yolo County Child Support Services encourages fathers to participate in their children's lives and to support their future.

Child Support Services offers several ways to help dads through the journey of fatherhood including, establishing paternity and child support orders, financial audits and record keeping. Child Support Services also helps parents navigate the courts and legal process, whether one needs help modifying an existing order or just with questions about documents received. The services are free to low cost and as a neutral party, not representing either parent, Yolo County Child Support Services can help parents through what can be a stressful and difficult process.
