August is Child Support Awareness Month

(Woodland, CA) – During Child Support Awareness Month in August, the Yolo County Department of Child Support Services encourages all parents to remember they have a responsibility to give children “something great to imitate.”

The value and importance of parents as role models cannot be overstated. Each and every day, children look to parents to set an example for how to be healthy, happy and successful.

Parents nurture and promote growth while reading to children, teaching them how to make healthy meals, helping with homework or teaching them sports. With each moment, parents are unlocking their passions, inspiring ideas and helping children discover their strengths.

Yolo County Child Support serves the parents and children on approximately 7,500 cases. Over the last federal fiscal year, almost $14 million in child support was collected and distributed. This financial support makes a difference in the daily lives of children.

“During Child Support Awareness Month, I encourage each of us to look to the future of our state – our children,” said Yolo County Department of Child Support Services Director Natalie Dillon. “Working together, we can create opportunities that ensure their success, which will lead to a better California for all.”
