NTD Architecture Selected for Davis Library Renovation

(Woodland, CA) – Thanks to City of Davis residents who voted to approve Measure P in November 2007, the Yolo County Mary L. Stephens Davis Branch Library will receive a much needed facelift. Measure P provides for ongoing support of library services, programs and facilities, including continued operation of the library seven days per week.

Through a competitive process, award-winning NTD Architecture of Auburn, California was selected to plan and design a much needed renovation of the Davis Branch Library. The plan will provide for expansion of the children's area, improvements to the circulation and young adult areas, upgrades to the electrical and cabling system to accommodate more lighting and more public access computer stations, building repairs and maintenance, and replacement of worn carpet and furniture.

“The Davis Branch Library is well loved by community residents,” notes Yolo County Librarian Patty Wong. “Thousands of people visit this popular branch each week, circulating more than 1 million items per year. The library is a resource for people of all ages. Working with NTD Architecture and our community, we will provide a welcoming and attractive building that functions well and is inviting to all customers – a place where you would want to visit often.”

NTD Architecture has extensive experience in library renovations and is the architect designing the new Winters Community Library, a partnership between Yolo County and the Winters Joint Unified School District. The new Winters Community Library, linking the Winters High School Library with the Yolo County Library Winters Branch, will be constructed in 2009.
