Gardening 101 Class on March 25

(Woodland, CA) – Spring is around the corner, and it's time to dust off your gardening tools and begin preparing for a spring and summer garden. To help you get started with some gardening basics, the Yolo County Health and Human Services Agency is hosting a free Gardening 101 class on Wednesday, March 25 from 5:15 to 6:30 p.m. at the Hanna & Herbert Bauer Memorial Community Garden, located at 137 N. Cottonwood Street in Woodland, behind the Bauer Building.

This interactive class will be taught by a Yolo County UC Master Gardener and will cover topics such as soil preparation, strategies for planting, and timing for planting summer crops. There will be time to ask questions and no gardening experience is required to attend.

Participants must pre-register by March 24 by contacting David Linebarger at (530) 666-8429 or david.linebarger@yolocounty.org. Participants are encouraged to dress appropriately for the weather as the class is outside in the garden. In the event of steady rain, the class will be moved indoors.

The Yolo County Health and Human Services Agency is committed to providing education and resources that can help residents eat fresh fruits and vegetables and live healthier lives by offering free classes throughout the year at the Community Garden. Participants can learn more about the garden activities and classes at: www.yolocounty.org/garden.
