The County of Yolo

Yolo County, California, with a population of just over 220,000, is a naturally beautiful and richly diverse county. It is one of the leading agricultural producers in the nation with 661,000 acres that are used primarily for farming and ranching. The Capay Valley is one of the leaders in the nation for organic farming.

The County seat, located in Woodland, is just 20 miles northwest of the State Capitol of Sacramento. Its proximity to the Sacramento International Airport and two interstate highways places Yolo County within a major transportation hub. San Francisco Bay Area, Napa-Sonoma wine region, and the pristine mountains and ski resorts of Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada are within two hours driving distance.

About the Yolo County Library

Yolo County Library's service area consists of 160,000 residents and serves the entire county except for the City of Woodland, which has city-funded public library services. Branch libraries are located in Clarksburg, Davis, Esparto, Knights Landing, West Sacramento, Winters, and Yolo. A temporary satellite branch is located in South Davis at Montgomery Elementary School. Library Administration, Technical Services, Archives, Records Center, and the Yolo County Historical Collection are located in Woodland at the Shipley Walters Center for Yolo County Archives and Library Services. This is an exciting time for Yolo County Library as our new bookmobile, the Yolo Bibliobus, will launch soon and will serve rural communities. In 2026, the new Walnut Park Library in South Davis will open, which will provide great access to library resources and a much-needed community meeting space in that area.
